National Scenic Byway designation sought for Mary Ingles Scenic Highway (KY 8)

The City of Augusta and Bracken County are seeking National Scenic Byway designation for the Mary Ingles Scenic Highway (KY 8). The highway spans 18.9 miles through Bracken County. The proposed designation begins at the Bracken-Pendleton County line to the west and ends at the Bracken-Mason County line to the east.

The first step in completing National Byway designation is to complete a Corridor Management Plan which helps communities along the proposed roadway effectively map, survey, interpret, manage and market their unique story in relation to the byway. Public input is sought along the corridor to ensure that the public's expertise and needs are taken into consideration in the final document.

An informal discussion meeting will be held on Tuesday, May 14, 2013 at 6:30 p.m. at the Augusta Community Center, located at the corner of Second and Bracken Streets in Augusta. The meeting is being held to explain the Corridor Management Plan process and to gather input from concerned citizens.

For more information, contact the Augusta/Bracken County Tourism Department at 606-756-2183.

"Augusta in Bloom" reception Friday, May 3rd

The streets of Augusta will be blossoming with new art when the Augusta Art Guild presents its "Augusta in Bloom" exhibit in May. This show will display over twenty wood planters built from repurposed lumber that have been turned into one-of-a-kind art by Guild members. The artists were given the guidelines that their planters feature flowers – either live or depicted in art – and that they had to be exterior-safe. The "Augusta in Bloom" planters will be unveiled during a Garden Party-themed reception that is open to the public on Fri., May 3rd from 6–8 p.m. There will also be an exhibit of flora-inspired art in the gallery by Guild artists.

The "Augusta in Bloom" exhibit will run from May 3rd to June 1st, when the planters will be sold during the Augusta Art Guild's 13th Annual "Art in the Garden" event. All proceeds from the planter sales will benefit the Augusta Art Guild and its mission of promoting the arts in Bracken County.

The Augusta Art Guild Gallery is located at 116 Main Street in Augusta and is open every weekend from 1–4 p.m. For more information, please visit www.augustaartguild.com.

“Sticker Shock” campaign displays legal consequences of providing alcohol to minors

Members of the S.T.O.P. Regional Youth Coalition from Bracken County High School and Augusta Independent Schools launched “Sticker Shock” - a campaign targeting parents and other adults to remind them not to provide alcohol to underage youth. On April 11-12, 2013 the students, accompanied by staff of the Regional Prevention Center of Comprehend, Inc. and Jason Hinson, Family Resource Youth Service Coordinator of Augusta Independent Schools, visited local establishments that sell alcohol and placed brightly colored stickers onto actual packages of alcohol. The stickers featured information on the legal consequences of providing alcohol to minors. Posters and flyers with the same message were also placed onto store windows, doors and beverage coolers. The campaign is just in time for prom and graduation season - a time when underage drinking is more likely to occur. The students hope that by reminding adults of the law, less underage youth will drink and experience alcohol-related consequences, including drinking and driving crashes. The following businesses that participated were Lee’s IGA, First Stop, R’s Liquor, and Valero.

S.T.O.P. is a regional youth coalition, comprised of students from all of the high schools in the Buffalo Trace region. This year, there are 40 regional members of S.T.O.P. The students meet monthly and work together to plan and implement substance abuse prevention projects in their respective schools and communities.

We All Seek Love

The Persian poet and mystic Rumi was intoxicated by love and his poems are so filled with outpourings of love for his fellow man, for creation, and for God that one is almost embarrassed upon reading them. When reading his poetry, one feels almost as if one is reading the intimate diaries of someone who is gushing over his beloved: "When I am with you, we stay up all night. When you're not here, I can't go to sleep. Praise God for those two insomnia's! And the difference between them." Rumi taps into the almost infinite longing within all of us to be united to our beloved, and ultimately, to be united to the source of our very existence. The mystical epiphany for Rumi was that what we have been seeking has actually been seeking us, and we need not go to the ends of the earth to find it because it's actually within us: "What you seek is seeking you." Rumi tells us "The minute I heard my first love story, I started looking for you, not knowing how blind that was. Lovers don't finally meet somewhere. They're in each other all along." We all long to reunite with the primal source of our being. The ancient Greeks explained this by saying that before birth we were joined to a complementary being which was essentially our other half. Nowadays people talk of having a God-shaped hole within us. Rumi said "My soul is from elsewhere, I'm sure of that, and I intend to end up there." He also said "There is a candle in your soul, ready to be kindled. There is a void in your soul, ready to be filled. You feel it, don't you?"

Bracken Co. Sheriff's office holds drug take-back event

On Saturday, April 27th, the Bracken County Sheriff's Office held a Drug Take-Back Program for citizens to safely dispose of their outdated or no longer used prescription drugs. Deputy John Riley is shown above with one of the collection boxes.

Drug Take-Back Programs were held all over the state in an effort to prevent dangerous drugs from falling into the wrong hands. Participating citizens do not have to be concerned with medications being stolen in a burglary of their home, and they no longer have to worry about accidental overdoses of small children or other family members. If you missed this latest event, there is a permanent drop off box located outside the Sheriff's Office in the hallway of the courthouse.

We had forty seven in attendance Sunday morning. Millie Bush was the worship leader, Susie Hargett led the singing, Shelby England had children's church, and Kay Grooms did the power point.

Genna Lou Murray has been in the hospital. She should be coming home on Tuesday if everything goes well.

We have finished our inspiring study of Grace and now we are planning to start a new study in three weeks.

This past Sunday we had an inspiring discussion of fears and how these fears affect our lives. Next Sunday (May 5) we will have an informative presentation concerning the Dead Sea Scrolls presented by Alex Hyrcza. GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES

by Caroline Jefferson

It was with much surprise, and equal sadness that parishioners read Fr. Bach's letter of departure in Sunday's bulletin! Fr. Greg was asked by Bishop Foys and accepted the offer to return to his former duties as Director of Vocations. Effective May 8, Msgr. Dominic Fosu from Ghana in West Africa will be the new Parochial Administrator for St. James and St. Augustine Parishes. We pray that Fr. Greg will have a most successful future and that his duties will not prevent him from visiting his Bracken County home! While we are stunned at Fr. Greg's departure, we must remember that WE, the parishioners, are the Catholic Church in Bracken County and God will be with us as we adjust to our new Parochial Administrator! Let us pray for the guidance of the Holy Spirit in the days and weeks ahead! Life is full of changes and we must pray to be open to these changes to accept and to do God's holy will!

Congratulations to our eleven students who were confirmed by Bishop Foys on Monday evening and our prayers for Ethan Jefferson and Emily Evans who will be making their First Holy Communion on Sunday, May 5!

Augusta Church Changes Name

The Augusta First Church of the Nazarene has a new name. The great congregation of Augusta First Church voted to change the name of the church to RIVER COMMUNITY (A church of the Nazarene). Pastor Steve and the church family wanted to make a better connection with the community of Augusta and to create a new identity for the church.

There is a lot of exciting ministry going on at RIVER COMMUNITY. "Dockside" is the children's ministry and the kids are having fun and they are learning about the love of God. "FISH" Ministries focuses on small groups and its purpose is to make disciples of all ages. The church presently has seven small groups meeting weekly/bi-weekly. The small group ministry is quickly becoming the very heart of the church. "SERVOLUTION" is the purpose of the church and it means, starting a revolution in the church by serving others. WE PRAISE! WE WORSHIP! WE SERVE!

At RIVER COMMUNITY worship is alive and begins every Sunday at 10 a.m. The church has transitioned into a 21st century church. All ages are being ministered to and the future is filled with VISION, PURPOSE, and MISSION. We welcome those who are unchurched. Please come and join an exciting church.

Congratulations to Bracken County High School senior Ema Cooper, daughter of Jean Blevins and Marc Cooper. She has received the Begley Scholarship, the highest scholarship one can receive, to Lindsey Wilson College in Columbia, KY. This scholarship is hand chosen by President William T. Luckey Jr. A record 162 high school seniors from 49 Kentucky counties and 11 U.S. states competed for one of three John B. Begley Scholarships awarded to incoming freshmen for the 2013 year. Students are awarded the scholarship based on a variety of factors, but President Luckey told them that "we're looking for students who can have an impact" at the college and beyond. Begley Scholars receive full-tuition, room and board at Lindsey Wilson College. Begley Scholars participate in at least two co-curricular activities simultaneously, providing leadership in at least one of these activities. Scholars also fulfill a service component and are expected to distinguish themselves as men and women of high moral character by living according to high personal standards and exercising good judgment daily. In addition to regular meetings with the president of Lindsey Wilson College, Begley Scholars participate in several extracurricular and enrichment activities. Past activities have included:

- An annual cultural excursion to one of Ernest Hemingway's "Great American Cities" Chicago, New Orleans, New York or San Francisco.
- Meetings with well-known Kentucky authors Bobbie Ann Mason and Wendell Berry; historian Thomas D. Clark; and regional business and civic leaders.
- Attendance at regional events at the Kentucky Center for the Arts, Actors Theatre of Louisville, Horse Cave Theatre and the J.B. Speed Art Museum.

TRASH TALK

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug

Howdy Folks! Where did April go, or March, February and January? Here we are in May and today, May 2 is the 62nd observance of the National Day of Prayer which was designated by the U.S. Congress in 1952 during Harry S. Truman’s presidency. Each year since its inception, the president has signed a proclamation encouraging Americans to turn to God in prayer and meditation. In 1988 President Ronald Reagan established the first Thursday in May as the national day of prayer observation. The theme this year is ‘Pray for America’ and is based on the scripture verse of Matthew 12:21, “In His name the nations will put their hope.” Mrs. Gerry and Mr. Bill Krebs are once again organizing Bracken County’s Day of Prayer celebration which will start at noon on Thursday, May 2, in front of the Bracken County Courthouse. Whether we can join the group or not, we can all take a few minutes to join our thoughts with those nationwide to pray for this “...one nation, under God, indivisible, with liberty and justice for all!”

Kentucky has been blessed as one of the most beautiful states in the nation and we think that Bracken County is one of the most beautiful counties in the state! As native born citizens, we are extremely proud of this county! It saddens us to see so many people who are not proud of this place we call home as evidenced by the amount of litter that is along our highways, the trash that is thrown on our creek banks and homes and buildings surrounded by unkempt properties! So much housing has been added to the county since we were kids and the many and varied structures can and should be a testament to the folks that call them home. Unfortunately, some homes are not well loved, and the property becomes a collection of neglected material items, surrounded by weeds and untamed grass. Some structures have been abandoned and become safety hazards for humans, but a haven for varmints and wildlife. As a county, as a community, proud of our heritage and our surroundings, let’s make a collective effort to ‘keep Bracken clean in 2013’!

In an effort to help rid properties of trash and debris, roll-offs are located at the Animal Shelter on Hamilton Road this week and once the dumpster is full in Germantown, a replacement will be located at Powersville on the lot belonging to Mr. Bobby Downard. Our sincerest appreciation is given to the individuals who allow these roll-offs to be placed on their property! These dumpsters benefit the entire county and we applaud these generous citizens! Please do not allow your trash and debris to litter the areas surrounding these dumpsters. If something falls to the ground, pick it up and put it into the container! The idea is to get the county clean, not move it from one location to another!

Recently we had a question regarding the recycling of plastics and if we would ever be allowed to recycle the numbers 3 thru 7 plastics. When researching for today’s article, we ran across information stating that New York City will soon be accepting all types of plastic, regardless of the number. Our answer to the individual was that in larger metropolitan areas all plastics are recycled and eventually, in our area. We are not sure how long it will take, but we encourage you for now to do as much as you can to RECYCLE, REUSE and REDUCE to keep God’s earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seen you – Bin & Bug.

Taylor Elem. Kindergarten students learn about community helpers

Deputy Ian Kelsch of the Bracken County Sheriff’s Department was recently a guest speaker for all kindergarten classes at Taylor Elementary. The students had been studying community helpers. Deputy Kelsch came and spoke to them about his job and what he does. He also showed them some of his gear, talked about stranger danger, what “emergencies” are and when to properly use 911, and also performed a “fake” pull over so kids could see how it’s done.

Also, School Nurse Kim Figgins visited all Kindergarten classrooms and spoke about what she does daily, hygiene, germs, nutrition, proper hand washing, and when it is necessary to ask to see the nurse.

Kentucky Fish & Wildlife summer conservation camp registration deadline extended to May 15

Students in the fourth through sixth grade still have time to apply for summer conservation camps operated by the Kentucky Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

The camp application deadline was recently extended to May 15 to allow families more time to plan summer activities for their children. Each weeklong camp session offers kids a healthy dose of outdoor fun along with skills designed to build self-sufficiency.

Kentucky Fish and Wildlife operates three camps on Cumberland, Grayson and Kentucky lakes.

"There are still spots available," said Laura Burford, assistant director of Kentucky Fish and Wildlife's Information and Education Division. "There are available weeks at all three camps. Parents should contact their local conservation educator, call the department at 1-800-858-1549 or visit our website at fw.ky.gov for more information."

Camps include overnight lodging, three nutritious meals a day and a variety of fun activities such as swimming, fishing, boating, archery and more for less than $50 a day. Locations include Camp John Currie on Kentucky Lake, Camp Earl Wallace on Lake Cumberland and Camp Robert Webb on Grayson Lake.

The $230 weekly fee also includes camper insurance, transportation to camp from a drop-off point in a home county and a junior sportsman's license.

At camp, kids learn to fish, cast a fishing rod, paddle a canoe, identify plants and wildlife, survive in the wilderness, swim and handle firearms safely. A week at conservation camp is gift that provides many memories and a firm foundation for a lifetime of enjoyment in the outdoors.

"My older son loved conservation camp so much, he attended three times," Burford said. "My younger son will attend conservation camp for the second time this year."

Visit Kentucky Fish and Wildlife's main webpage at fw.ky.gov for more information, including a map of conservation education districts, contact information for conservation educators, applications and more.

Sports in Kentucky

Richard the British kid

American Club Ball 'sure ain't cricket, is it, mate?'

Kid standing at the front door was nervous. Big blue eyes shining out from under a shock of ginger hair, he stepped forward. Was 12 years old maybe.

"Excuse me suh," he said gripping his hat in both hands, "Can ye come out 'n play maybe?"

Name was Richard. His words were dipped in good East Anglian treacle, and the way he said them with such fresh innocence, was endearing to a fellow twice his age.

Could I what? Come out and play?

"Well, ya see, the lads and me was hopin' you would show us how ta play that baseball game with the hand gloves and the wooden club thing? We've seen pictures, ya see."

Woodford in Northamptonshire was, and I hope still is, a beautiful and serene place it used to be.

Soon, I dragged a duffel bag of bats, a few balls and gloves from my car trunk (boot), Richard and his six pals insisted on carrying them as we walked to the Common. They fussed at first on who would get a hand glove, then asked what to do with it. "Do ya put one on each hand then?" a kid asked.

Was ripe summertime in Woodford. Here was a little band of English boys at Woodford, Northamptonshire gathered round an American, each enthralled with the equipment and American Club Ball, uh, baseball. Having played cricket, Richard and his pals soon mastered how to swing a club, er, bat at the ball. They loved the gloves too, banging their fists into them, and naturally they had to be taught how to "spit into the pocket real good then rub it in."

Smashing good time, those golden evenings on the Common with little Brits trying to play baseball. One kid who insisted on calling it Club Ball was asked to explain what he meant. "Well, ya hit the ball with the club, raaah-et? Then ya makes a run for it, raaah-et? Wait a minute! Me runs to where exactly?"

Richard and his mates would return to my door often for awhile, asking if I could "come out and play."

Baseball, huh?

Good memories come round when April chill gives way to May. Major League Baseball takes its traditional place as our national Pastime and we begin the journey of following our teams to Fourth of July, the all-star break on to September and October.

Richard described our game with a simple English eloquence that would never occur to Americans, but stayed on with me so that I might share with you.

"This Baseball game is hard, isn't it?" he said. "Tryin' ta hit a round thing that's three inches across and while its thrown as hard as the bowler can fling it. Then ya try and hit it with a stick that's also round. Sure ain't cricket, is it, mate?"

Never knew what happened to the kid with blue eyes and ginger colored hair. But, I left Richard a ball, glove and of course, a club.

I love baseball. Weather starting to warm (even in Denver) with onset of May. Hitters gather their timing, pitchers find a rhythm and corners of the plate.

I love baseball in particular this week because, 25 games into the 162-game run, my favorite team is playing superbly and had climbed first place after the weekend.

Watching the Pittsburgh Pirates hit four home runs at Busch Stadium in St. Louis Sunday afternoon, got me thinking, wonder how Richard would react to the color and pageantry and roar of a crowd of 50,000-plus? And, what would he have said about the Pirates 'clubbing' four home runs?

America. I love this place.

JUST WONDERING DEPT.

✓ Seems to me, Rick Pitino highly legible and handsome tattoo burned into his back is sort of like Gwyneth Paltrow (World's Most Beautiful Woman for 2013, says People Magazine), wearing a burqa?

Postscript: Kudos to tattoo-ist Adam Potts of Tattoo Salvation on Bardstown Road who, in a turnaround, hustled a ball coach for advertising and his own 15 minutes of fame.

✓ The NBA draft deadline to withdraw was April 28. As of Sunday 43 college scholarships opened up. Did anyone else think Archie Goodwin's leaving Kentucky brought to mind these things.

• Latest example of high school graduate with no interest in college should have been able to exercise his civil right to join the work force immediately. In Goodwin's case, the NBA developmental league.

• UK would have had a scholarship for a student-athlete who wanted to be in college.

• Saved fans the aggravation and money spent on an overpriced Goodwin jersey for little Johnny.

WORTH REPEATING DEPT.

A reader wrote: "...is the most overused/over killed adjectives (used) by sports reporters (the word) fantastic?"

Comment: No, fantastic is still second. Deprived of the word GREAT, Jimmy Dykes, Jay Bilas and a host of others would be bewildered and unable to complete a sentence. Too, without the g-word, Dick Vitale would've been looking for a real job 20 years ago.

And so it goes.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

On April 23rd, the Class of 2015 at Augusta Independent School had the opportunity to clean a portion of Route 8 outside of Augusta towards Foster. Our class worked hard for four hours picking up various items on both sides of the road. We filled 18 bags of trash.

We were shocked by the amount of litter on the road. Members of our community should take pride in our beautiful county. They need to dispose of their trash the proper way. We picked up fast food garbage, cups, bottles, and straws. We found several filled bags of trash on the hill side.

As members of this community, we all need to do our part. This road cleanup taught us a valuable lesson. We learned to appreciate our county and environment. We also learned that disposing of trash is a simple task that many people take for granted. Let's not forget that if caught, littering is against the law and fines can be assessed to violator, so the Class of 2015, urges each member of our community to do their part help keep Bracken County and our environment clean.

Sincerely, Augusta Ind.
School Class of 2015

This is the January 1, 2013, assessment on which state, county and school taxes for 2013 will be due about October 1, 2013.

The tax roll is in the office of the property valuation administrator in the county courthouse and may be inspected between the hours 8-4 Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and 8-12 on Wednesday and Saturday.

Any taxpayer desiring to appeal an assessment on real property made by the PVA must first request a conference with the PVA or a designated deputy. The conference may be held prior to or during the inspection period.

Arbor Day Foundation offers Tree-Care Booklet with $3 Donation

The Arbor Day Foundation is offering a handy tree-care booklet designed to help people plant and care for trees.

Anyone can receive Conservation Trees, a user-friendly booklet featuring illustrations, colorful photos and easily-understood descriptions, by making a $3 donation to the Foundation this month.

"Conservation Trees is an ideal resource for tree planters," said John Rosenow, founder and chief executive of the Arbor Day Foundation. "Taking care of existing trees is just as critical as planting new ones, and proper care ensures communities are able to fully enjoy the diverse benefits of urban forestry."

The booklet provides details about the right way to plant and prune trees. It also includes tips on using shade trees and windbreaks to save on energy costs, attracting songbirds and creating a living snow fence.

Are Your Trees in Danger??

By: David Appelman, CEA Ag and Natural Resources

Whether it is your shade tree in your yard, or the forest trees in your woodlot, trees have a great value to many land and homeowners. Unfortunately, we are facing a number of invasive insects that are not native to our area, and can kill many of valuable shade trees and timber. One insect that has received a lot of attention is the Emerald Ash Borer. This insect was found in Bracken County in 2011. This insect has migrated from Michigan where the original infestation occurred. The Bracken County Extension Service will host a workshop looking at detection and control options for invasive insects. The program will be on May 2nd at 6:00 at the extension office. In addition to control methods, we will talk about forest management and decisions that need to be considered with our timber. Along with the Emerald Ash Borer, we will discuss the Walnut Twig Beetle and Thousand Cankers Disease, Asian Longhorn Beetle, and a new crop, garden, and home insect – the Brown Marmorated Stink Bug.

Don't miss an issue. Make sure we know about any address changes! 606-735-2198
